

Invitation to the 1st network meeting to foster environmental health research in Eastern & South-Eastern Europe hosted by ISEE Europe

We would like to provide a wide forum for ideas and exchange between different partners working in the field of environmental health in Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, and beyond. Our aim is to increase collaborations, and to provide opportunities for discussions, actions and ideas to foster environmental health research in Eastern & South-Eastern Europe.

The first virtual meeting will be held on 30th June 2021 from 16.00-17.30 (CEST).

This event is open to everybody that would like to foster environmental health research in Eastern and South-Eastern Europe.

This event follows after a successful 2-day workshop held in June 2021 to review the status of current evidence on health effects of air pollution in the Southeast European region and its interlinkage to current policy debate and actions. This virtual workshop was jointly hosted by ISEE Europe in collaboration with the Health Effects Institute, the European Respiratory Society and environmental health institutions in Bulgaria and Serbia.
